

Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 13 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

Dry spells between spells of rainfall Thursday and Saturday.

This Evening and Tonight:

Further persistent rainfall soon moves in from the northeast, covering most of the region and turning heavy in places and giving some sleet or snow over the Peak District. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:

Any remaining rain continues through the morning, turning wintry at times. This then begins to fragment and clear southeast into the afternoon. Becoming dry into the night, but remaining cloudy. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:

Cloudy and dry Friday, then rain and strong winds arrive from the west Saturday. Into the night the rain clears, to give a dry day with sunny spells Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.